

Coaching

No grass roots sport can survive without the volunteers that give up their time to take on various roles within the game of netball and its operation. One of the most important and rewarding of these roles is that of the coach.

Whilst we can all agree the development and extension of skills and game sense are important we as an association also encourage learning the value of teamwork and good sportsmanship as essential player developments. That means that coaching staff have a significant role to play in developing all of the above within their players.

Coaches at all levels within the association are expected to understand and comply with the Coach Code of Conduct .The SSNA Coaching team are focused on improving coach development across the association in 2018.
